

Open University

The three points in the Malag request seem to have been addressed by the institution. They are updating materials and are trying to change the wage structure somewhat. The only problem not addressed by them (which appears in the committee's report) is that of external donor funding which I think they will find very difficult

I would recommend accepting their report