

Comment on Implementation of Recommendations
Arielle University Center of Samaria

16 January 2011

Prof. Jonathan Rabinowitz

The institution has provided a very detailed and comprehensive response. It appears that the evaluation process was a catalyst for positive change. The response indeed covers all of the points raised. This could well be used as a good example of a thorough response. I have no further comments.